

Action Item H CBEDs

Issue – The Department of Education still has not released the 2009-10 CBEDs.

Background Information-

We have been using the State Department of Education's data for CBEDs to determine previous years enrollment, for current years divisional placement for playoffs and dues calculations.

In mid-July, Cindy went to the web site to begin compiling the data for last years enrollment and this is the message she received, "At this time, the 2009-10 California K-12 public school enrollment data is not available. We expect to release it in early to mid-September. To view a complete list of enrollment reports, press the back button and select a year other than 2009-10."

The Section went to using the official CDE web site, because schools were not reporting Independent Study programs and such when they should have been. So the currently philosophy is, whatever number the school is getting paid from the State is the number used to calculate dues and divisional placement.

Discussion Points-

Do we wait and hopefully CBEDs will be posted by the end of Sept.?

Do we ask schools to send in their numbers from last year and we compile a very unofficial divisional placement list?

Do we consider using 2008-09 again this year?

Recommendation-
